

RL Letters to Karl and Luise Kautsky 1896-1918

6/13/1909

p.153 2. Carolus, a matter of business in closing. Herewith the title of a new book by Lenin (~~his~~ his pseudonym is Iljin); he is anxious to have the book noted among the works received. As far as a review of it is concerned, don't ask it of anybody; I shall probably be able to recommend somebody to you, you might otherwise unwittingly give ~~the~~ offense to the author."

(To Louise K.)

Aug. 1911 p.164 "Are you coming for the women's conference? Just imagine, I have become a feminist!" I received a credential for the conference and must therefore go to Jena. This was the year of the first International Women's Day on March 19, 1911.

Handwritten: "I have become a feminist"

On p. 202 RL writes about a testimonial for Clara from the women and she suggests books, whereupon they give her an artistic scroll. (May 29, 1917)

Handwritten: "I have become a feminist"

Handwritten: "From p. 672 of the 2nd appearance of 'The woman represents the ideal.'" (quoting Engels: "He is the bourgeois in the family, the woman represents the ideal.")

Handwritten: "9 letters to Japs for Mar. 1. 1910"
