Thank you very much for providing us with information regarding your qualifications.

Unfortunately, the material which we are translating is all advanced research in the various scientific disciplines, and we have found that a broad background in the particular scientific field is an essential requirement for translation of this material. Our translators all have either M.A. or Ph.D. in their respective fields.

Should we have any translation of a nonscientific nature, or on a less advanced level in science, we shall be glad to get in touch with you.

Thank you very much for your interest in our translation program.

Very truly yours,
