
Letter to Max Bedacht [“James Marshall”],
Acting Executive Secretary, CPA,
from Joseph Kowalski [“A. Gorny”],
Secretary of the Polish Bureau, CPA,
June 17, 1922.

Document in the Comintern Archive, RGASPI f. 515, op. 1, d. 117, l. 6.

June 17, 1922.

To the Secretary of CEC, CPA.

Dear Com. Marshall [Bedacht]:

For the last few weeks all the work in Polish Bureau was hampered on account of lack of money.

Theses are out and same ought to be translated. This cannot be done, because we have no typewriter and after all I have not a place where I could perform party work. In such circumstances I cannot accomplish the duties which were given to me by CEC and Pol. Bureau, and therefore I cannot take any responsibility.

Tomorrow the meeting of Polish Bureau will be held and there is the only way out of this serious situation, to present my resignation before it and explain the conditions which are now existing in the Polish Federation.

I will insist that Bureau notifies all Polish comrades of my resignation with the explanation of same and conditions prevailing at the present time for which I am not in a position to take any responsibility.

Yours,

Gorny [Joseph Kowalski].
