

VENTREMAN ADMITS PROSECUTION COURT KEEPS HIM ON JURY

Methods of Darrow—Case of C. P. Allen—Believes Federation Guilty of Murders But Judge Says He Is Good Juror

(Appeal to Reason Bureau Special to Chicago Daily Socialist.) Boies, Idaho, May 21.—When Judge Wood instructed counsel for the state to proceed with the exercise of their sixth peremptory challenge in the Haywood trial today, Attorney Richardson of the defense arose and submitted a formal objection to the procedure. Attorney Richardson's remarks were made with considerable emphasis and indicated a depth of feeling that is a marked characteristic of every lawyer connected with this case. He objected to the state using the sixth challenge on the ground that the new law authorizing it is an ex post facto law and had no force at the time the crime charged against the defendant is alleged to have been committed. He further declared that if the challenge was allowed by the court the trial of Defendant Haywood would not be conducted according to due process of law, but would be in defiance of the law and of the federal constitution, which guarantees every citizen protection within certain limits. At the conclusion of Richardson's remarks the court overruled the objections and ordered the prosecution to proceed. An exception was preserved. Questioning of talesmen by the defense continued with unabated fervor after the disposition of Richardson's objections. C. S. Darrow conducted the examination for the defense throughout the entire day, while W. E. Borah handled the situation for the state. Darrow's progress to a position near the talesman as he pled them with questions drew criticism from the court several times. The Chicago lawyer appeals more to the conscience of the juror under examination than to the intellect, and his efforts to induce the juror to lay bare his exact state of mind and his attitude toward the defendant on trial appears to have hypnotic power of suggestion. A score of questions, delicate and leading, are put with a skill that is truly marvelous, and in nearly every instance when Darrow is through it is plain that he has got to the bottom of the juror's soul. This method of Darrow's was vividly illustrated in his cross examination of John Fisher, juror No. 10. Fisher had been named for cause Saturday, but owing to recent developments he was grilling again today. In the examination Saturday Fisher denied that he ever talked with anyone about the case at any time since the murder of Steunenberg. Today Darrow in his intimate way led Fisher through a mass of questions to a final admission that he

Russ Peasants Solve Problem In Economics By Single Process

Moscow, May 21.—The strength of the radical elements in the duma and their demand for the expropriation of land is beginning to make itself felt all over the country and especially in the provinces near Moscow.

Landed proprietors are besieging the peasants' bank at Moscow, trying to sell their estates at between two-thirds and one-half of the market price of two years ago.

"The fields belong to him who cultivates them," is the slogan of the peasants.

RAILROAD BOSSES WANT TO BE GOOD ONES

Opposition Regarding Sunday Laws—No Workday for Them, But It Is for the Employee

That the United States may have to declare that Sunday is a legal workday seems to be the probable outcome of the controversy over the proposed reduction of rates for carrying the mail.

The railroads kick because the government considers it proper to take the whole number of days upon which mail is carried as a divisor for the aggregate. This attitude has brought out the following sharp contrast:

Railroad presidents are declaring that Sunday was never a legal workday and has never been even regarded so on the books.

Railroad employees are compelled to work without regard to the day by the aforesaid railroads.

Therefore, Sunday seems to be a holiday when the railroads wish to gouge the public purse, and a legal workday for the tired section man, the sleepless engineer and some others.

SWITCHMEN'S CHIEF CONDEMNS KIDNAPPING

Detroit, Mich., May 21.—A resolution denouncing the kidnaping of Moyer and Haywood, and the manner in which they were tried, was adopted by Grand Master Frank T. Hawley in his annual address at the opening of the convention of the Switchmen's Union of North America at Detroit.

Grand Master Hawley in his address questioned the justice of the trial at Boise, on the ground that it rests on an unjust possession of the persons of the accused.

It is expected that a resolution will be adopted before the close of the convention expressing similar opinions.

PASTOR'S FLOCK IN SUNDAY "LOOTING"

They Move Furniture Out of Catholic Church—Retaken By the Police

(Scripps-McRae Press Association.) Youngstown, O., May 21.—Courts will be called upon to decide the ownership of the furnishings of St. Anthony's Catholic church. The church has been involved in a factional fight and Bishop Hovinsmann recently excommunicated Rev. Louis Lops, who had been acting as pastor, for his refusal to obey orders. The majority of the congregation stuck by the deposed pastor and yesterday 1,500 persons marched to the church and removed everything portable except the organ and bell. A detachment of police recaptured the loot and are now holding it in a storehouse pending court decision as to its ownership. The followers of Rev. Lops say they pay for the furnishings and want them for a new church they propose building.

Three little "criminals," locked behind a barred door, have been in the custody of the Harrison street police because they committed a crime against private property. They are shoplifters and stole toys, trinkets, shoes and other things from downtown department stores. When a scowling store manager looked at them they confessed their wickedness, the "blunder" was taken away from them, and they were locked up. After two days' confinement they were released on bonds.

PRIESTS WANT WIVES—CONSORTS TO AVERT DISGRACEFUL CONDUCT

Paris, May 21.—Under the caption, "Holy Father, Marry Your Priests," Gil Blas, in a three column article today, comes out in a sensational appeal to Pope Pius X to abrogate the rule of obligatory celibacy for priests of the Roman Catholic church.

The paper declares that a petition, signed by 3,000 French priests and curates has been forwarded to Rome, praying for the abolition of the rule of clerical celibacy.

It is added that other and similar petitions from other countries have been sent to the Vatican.

Prayer of Priests. Gil Blas prints extracts from the text of the petition signed by 3,000 French priests, all of whom, it declares, are past the marrying age themselves, but who are speaking from the weight of responsibility thrust upon them by confessions.

In the extracts from the text of the petition published by Gil Blas it is stated:

"Among all the problems now confronting the prelates of France none is more important than the question of clerical celibacy. The solution of this question should be forthcoming without delay. This solution, we do not hesitate to predict, should be human nature, by right, by instruction of the vangel, by a decree abolishing ecclesiastical celibacy, thus rendering marriage optional with the clergy. We write these lines coldly, advisedly, with conviction, and with no other concern than a desire to tell the truth and nothing but the truth. We say aloud what others think or whisper, guided solely by care for the health and souls of the future Catholic children in France."

"Gen." Bell Says Idaho Trial Is a Farce and a "Job"

Denver, Colo., May 21.—Gen. Sherman M. Bell, who commanded the state troops in the trouble with the Cripple Creek miners under the administration of Governor Peabody, has not been in Idaho for either side in the Haywood trial at Boise, though he declares he knows much of the inside history of the Western Federation of Miners.

"I shall not appear as a witness," said Bell today, "except of my own volition, but if any attempt is made to use me as a tool by either the Western Federation of Miners or the mine owners, I give notice now that I shall take a hand."

"Why should they try these men in Idaho? During the troubles here and before the murder of Steunenberg there were seventy-five persons killed in Colorado, and yet they take men from Colorado to Idaho to try them for crimes committed in Colorado. Why don't they try them here? Is it because they are afraid?"

"The whole thing is a farce. It is unfair and un-American. I detest the principles of Moyer and Haywood, but I think they should get a square deal, and if you take men from a state where the alleged crimes were committed to a place supposedly hostile to them in another state, I don't call it a square deal."

TRAINMAN HIT UNCLE JOE CANNON HARD

Point Out That Statesman-Joker Is Serious Enough When Killing Progressive Bills

Atlanta, Ga., May 21.—A scathing denunciation of Speaker Cannon and a resolution denouncing his attitude toward labor, and opposing his re-election, marked the closing session of the convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, which was held in Atlanta. The resolution says in part:

"We have reasons to believe that Joseph G. Cannon has, as speaker of the national house of representatives, used the influence and power of that body to defeat the passage of legislation sought by the railroad employees and other working classes, both in the way of appointing as members of the house committees to which such legislation was referred men who were known to be hostile to its enactment and, by the use of threats, intimidation and force, compelling members to vote against our legislation, contrary to their own convictions."

GLAD THE CZAR WAS NOT BLOWN TO ATOMS

St. Petersburg, May 21.—The una today adopted a resolution expressing its indignation because of the recently discovered plot against the life of Czar Nicholas. The joy of the deputies because of the escape of the monarch is also expressed in the resolution. All the Socialists, deputies absent themselves to avoid going on record.

OFFICER CENSORED ORCHARD MATTER?

Correspondents Say They Will Not Submit To Any Interference With Their Reports

Boise, May 21.—That none is likely to be punished for contempt in connection with the Orchard interview is the growing conviction of persons here.

Newspaper correspondents generally express surprise that any promises had been made relative to the submission to the court of any matter set out, and declare they will not tolerate any interference, but will send out such matter as they think the case warrants. It has developed that the early interviews with Orchard were censored by Detective James McParland.

Its pipe lines cover 40,000 miles. Co-operating with the railroads, it established a system of secret or open discriminations in freight rates.

In its pipe lines, with only one competitor, it refuses to act as a common carrier for independent producers, and destroys or absorbs those who seek to build rival pipe lines. Its rates on its pipe lines are three to six times as great as they should be.

It is accused by Uncle Sam of over 8,000 separate violations of the law against unjust rebates.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY HORSES IN STREET

Miss Emily Feasna, 35 years of age, of 135 West Taylor street, was trampled by the hoofs of a plunging team at Van Buren and Market sts. yesterday morning so badly that she died a few minutes later in the Chicago Emergency hospital. The horses were driven by Thomas Burke, 25 years old, of 655 Jefferson street. He was arrested and taken to the Harrison street station. The girl's skull was fractured.

HOOSIER GOVERNOR HOME TO FIGHT STRIKE

Wilmington, Del., May 21.—Governor (Scripps-McRae Press Association.) J. F. Hanley of Indiana, who has been visiting in this city since Saturday, hurriedly left today for his home in Indianapolis to take personal charge of the street railway strike situation in Evansville, which has assumed alarming proportions.

Delaware politicians have not been greatly impressed by the declaration of the governor that he believes Vice President Fairbanks will succeed in capturing the next Republican presidential nomination.

Hanley, however, in an interview given today expressed the greatest confidence in Fairbanks' success. He believes Taft and Foraker will get together in Ohio and end their trouble.

Mrs. Lacey, wife of Congressman John F. Lacey of Oklahoma, Ia., refuses to permit her old negro servant's incarceration in a pest house, to be treated for measles. The negro has been in the service of the family for thirty years and he will be treated in the Lacey home.

PRICES OF BRICK TAKE NEW FLIGHT

How Some Working Agreements Have Affected Prices—$8.00 a Thousand Anticipated

The common brick war of last year is ended; the mysterious Central Brick Exchange has opened its office in the Chamber of Commerce building, and the price of common brick has gone up to $7 a thousand. Last year the price was $5, and there were occasions when the price was even lower.

The explanation for the sudden rise of prices to the old figures, when the Illinois Brick Company was supreme in the field, before Barney Webster revolted and organized the National Brick Company, is said to lie in the organization of a new three-cornered common brick combine in which the Central Brick Exchange holds the keystone position.

Last year Sales Agent Gray of the Illinois Brick Company was bound that the new National Brick Company should make no money, and he sliced prices unmercifully. It is current gossip that he had it in for George Prussing, who was then president of the Illinois Brick Company, and the Illinois share of the new sales agency. It is said that $8 a thousand will be cheap for common builders by the time summer is over.

SHIP WRECK LIKE THOSE IN FICTION

Seamen Cling To Vessel for Day—Sea Takes All But Gallon of Water

(Scripps-McRae Press Association.) New York, May 21.—Pickled up at sea nearly dead from hunger, thirst, exposure and lack of sleep, and lashed to the mast to prevent being swept overboard, Captain Clarendon Maxwell and six men of the American schooner Everett Webster arrived today.

Off Hatteras the Webster sprang a leak. Despite the work of the crew at the pumps the Webster sank until only a small part of her stern was above water. The men had saved one barrel of biscuits and only a little more than one gallon of water. When the barrel of biscuits was opened a dash of the sea washed most of the biscuits away and quite spoiled the remainder.

The water was nearly gone. The French bark Quevilly, on April 13, rescued them. All were half crazed from their sufferings. The Quevilly landed the castaways at Rome and the American consul sent them home.

HATFIELD GOES BACK TO FEUDS AND FOOD

Reports of Fighting Like "Call of the Wild" to Old Neighborhood Fighter

(Scripps-McRae Press Association.) Marysville, Ohio, May 21.—Lunging again to hear the twang of leading bullets, John James Hatfield, the famous stand-up bear that name, has abandoned his hut and today, with his three children, left for his "old Kentucky home."

For some time past Hatfield has been receiving reports of a distasteful nature, and he finally decided to abandon the peaceful avocation of a day laborer for the more stirring Winchester and ambush.

He has lived with his four children in a stand-room shack, and when his oldest daughter died recently the undertaker placed a guard over the body to protect it from rats.

HEAVY TAX ADVANCE ONE FOR THE STATE

It is alleged that if all the bills passed by the legislature are approved by the governor, it will mean that taxes will have to be increased vastly, and that the increase next fall, if these measures are passed, will reach 94 per cent. The highest previous rate was 66 in 1897. In the last thirteen years the lowest rate was 40 per cent, when the United States government paid into the state treasury the sum of $1,500,000 to adjust war claims.

SEMI-OFFICIAL LIFE SAVERS REALLY SAVE

Four persons were saved by the new volunteer life saving crew of the Rogers Park Boat Club Sunday. A rowboat containing Albert Lutz, Frank Lutz and Otto Lutz, brothers, living at 4703 North Clark street, capsized off Kenilworth avenue more than a mile out in the lake. The life savers noticed the accident and boats put out and did yeoman service. It is said their work was as efficient as that of the regulars.

EVANSVILLE MAY HAVE A GENERAL STRIKE—BREAKERS WRECK CARS

Evansville, Ind., May 21.—With 11 men injured in Sunday disturbances, a force of 100 strikebreakers endeavored to run cars this morning, but without progress. The development today is that a sympathetic strike may be called by all unions in the city. President Lee Jackson of the Central Labor Union admitted that many unions favored such a move.

The Retail Merchants' Association will meet tonight to discuss means of settling the strike. The merchants are entirely in sympathy with the strikers. They are also incensed at the threats of the street railway people to ask for troops, inasmuch as they have been bringing in armed strikebreakers.

Sketch of Orchard—Boasts of Many Murders—His Family

Boise, Idaho, May 21.—When Harry Orchard, the star witness for the state in the Haywood trial, appears on the witness stand, the defense is prepared to show his life record for the first time. While it is generally known that his real name is not Orchard and that he has at various times assumed different aliases, it will be shown that his name is Harry Moore and his parents are living in the vicinity of Syracuse, N. Y. In this interview with newspaper men the other day Orchard said he was born in Canada. He refused to answer any questions relative to his parents. That he has a wife and daughter living somewhere on the border between the United States and Canada is known by the defense. Orchard, or Moore, some years ago worked in a cheese factory in Detroit, Mich., and he is a member of the Masonic fraternity and connected with a lodge in Detroit. While the records of Masons in Detroit do not show his membership, it is said that for several years dues and assessments have been remitted to the lodge from various parts of the western country. Investigation has shown that Orchard was in the places at the time remittances were made to the Masonic lodge, and it is said that his identity is established beyond a doubt. The books of the cheese factory in Detroit have been examined, and the name of Harry Moore appears on them, and the age corresponds with that of Orchard. Every other person whose name appears on the books, with the exception of Moore, has been accounted for, but all trace of Moore was lost. His parents in the vicinity of Syracuse have been visited and while the father positively denied that Orchard is his son, he is said to have admitted that he had no knowledge of the whereabouts of a son who has been missing for years. Orchard is declared to have a penchant for boasting of crimes he has committed and has told of several murders in the east in which he had a hand. These mysterious murders were committed in the state of Michigan and New York. While the investigation has proved that Orchard had no connection with these murders, it also has shown that the murders were actually committed at the time he mentioned, which the defense says establishes Orchard as a witness at the time and must have had some knowledge of the crimes. Employees in the Detroit cheese factory who knew Moore in his boyhood days, when he worked in the factory, have been shown pictures of Orchard, which Orchard may give relative to the assassination of Governor Stearnsberg. Discredit to Orchard. The object of the defense in making such a searching investigation of Orchard is to show when he appears as a witness that the stories he has told of his life are a tissue of falsehoods. If it can be shown, the defense believes it will discredit the testimony which Orchard may give relative to the assassination of Governor Stearnsberg.

RAISE MONEY TO GET CALHOUN

San Francisco Socialists Hope To Have Car President Prosecuted for Murder Conspiracy

San Francisco, Cal., May 21.—A "Calhoun Prosecution Fund" was started by the Socialist Party of San Francisco with which to prosecute Patrick Calhoun of the United Railway for "murdering" union men in the street car strike. The specific charge made by the Socialists against Calhoun is that he openly furnished thugs with weapons and ordered them to shoot strikers. District Attorney Langdon of San Francisco was reluctant to tackle the railway magnate and the Socialists are now stirring up public sentiment to force him to arraign Calhoun on the charge of murder. The Socialists point out that Moyer and Haywood are now prosecuted for an alleged charge of having planned murder, while Calhoun openly ordered his thugs to kill union men and aided them with weapons to do the cowardly assassination, and yet is let alone. The labor unions of this city are taking great interest in the movement, and claim that they will land the railway magnate behind the bars.

DAILY WRECK RECORD

Cleveland, O., May 21.—Two were fatally, two seriously and fourteen painfully injured in a wreck on the Akron, Bedford & Cleveland Electric Suburban Road, about six miles north of Akron, O., late last night. Two crowded cars were moving toward Cleveland. One made an unexpected stop to let off passengers and the following car, running at high speed, telescoped the first. Reading, Pa., May 21.—The first of the funerals of the seventeen Reading victims of the wreck of the Mystic Shriners' train at Honda, on May 11, will take place this afternoon, when the bodies of Mrs. Susan Moseck and her son will be laid to rest. Tomorrow and Wednesday will witness the two greatest mourning days Reading has ever experienced. Eight of the victims will be buried tomorrow and the remaining on the following day. Twelve persons were slightly injured in a head-on collision between passenger trains, one on the Wisconsin Central, the other the Omaha limited of the Illinois Central, at Victoria, P. C. The girls were being smuggled into San Francisco for immoral purposes and had ridden thousands of miles in the vessel's hold, marked as freight. Their discovery followed the fumigation of the ship on account of smallpox having broken out on board. A Virginia senator will offer at the next session of the general assembly of his state a bill to incorporate the so-called "unwritten" law into the statute.

PEABODY NOW PEDDLES COAL

Form. Governor of Colorado Kicked Out of Bank Goes Into Coal Business—Dance Hall Next

Denver, Colo., May 21.—From the gubernatorial cushion to the soft side of a seat in a coal office. From the velvet seat of a mahogany chair in a bank president's sanctum to the corrugated end of a nail keg in a side street shanty for the dispensation of coal to a moderate fuel-consuming community. This in a measure is the fate of ex-Governor James H. Peabody of the sovereign state of Colorado. The fall thereof is terrible and the resounding detonation is being heard throughout the length and breadth of the state. Fired from Bank. The former governor is experiencing the ingratitude of his former masters, the mine owners. He had been for many years president of a bank in Canon City, but recently the business of the bank has been falling off, presumably owing to the former governor's unpopular position. Consequently the heavy stockholders and directors, men who are prominent in mine owners' and citizens' alliance circles, summarily removed him from his office. Now the ex-governor is in a little coal office on a side street, trying to make a living selling coal. These are very little for the erstwhile servant of capitalism, and those who ought to know state that he seems to be going back to his former vocation—keeping a dance hall. History Well Known. The history of Peabody's operations in the Cripple Creek trouble is well known. He was who hired "General" Bell, who said: "They want habeas corpus. We'll give them postmortems." Bell, who sanctioned the deportations of miners convicted at the wrecking of their homes, the destruction of their savings and the oppression of their families. He evidently thought that his masters, the mine owners, would take care of him and would hold him on the top wave, but alas, how variable is human expectancy! By a strange coincidence, illustrating that the mills of the gods grind slowly, but they grind exceedingly fine, to use a trite expression, is the understanding that "General" Bell, who commands the state troops at Cripple Creek, has too been dropped from the payroll of the mine owners. He has delivered a scream to the effect that Moyer-Haywood trials are a farce and says he detests their principles, all of which is not surprising coming from "General" Bell. SHOT DOWN HIS ENEMY AT A BAR Ordered Crowd to Give Him Chance to Fire at Alleged Feudist—Shoots to Save Mother Daniel Ladd is dying in Passavant Hospital of wounds received yesterday morning when he was shot by J. J. Bingen, as the outcome of an old feud. The shooting occurred in a sensational manner in the saloon of John Deusch, 282 Chicago avenue. Ladd was at the bar with a number of friends when his old enemy entered. Bingen shouted: "Stand away, all of you, so I can get him." Panic-stricken, the drinkers dropped from the bar. Bingen fearlessly fired several times at Ladd, and remained in the saloon covering the crowd with his pistol until the patrol wagon arrived and took him to the Chicago avenue station. Frank Peters, 15, shot and dangerously wounded Rudolph Handek, a boarder in the Peters home, 88 Barber street. The boarder was intoxicated and tried to brain Mrs. Peters with a catsup bottle. The youth ran to the assistance of his mother and shot Handek three times. The latter was taken to a hospital, while the boy gave himself up to the police. "I will kill Darby if he recovers and my wife is sentenced even to one day in jail," declared Henry C. Waskow, husband of the woman who shot J. C. Darby Saturday and then shot herself. The divorced husband of the woman says she was deceived and ruined by Darby, and he will do all in his power to assist his wife. Waskow says Darby, who is a street car man, broke up several other homes and deserved everything he got. One man was shot and a woman knocked down in a drunken brawl at a dance given by the Trinity Club of Englewood at the notorious Prima dance hall, Thirteenth street and Indiana avenue. The wounded man was taken to Mercy Hospital. Policeman Daniel McCarthy restored order. Zion will be sold under the hammer, according to General Frederick Wilbur Glenn Voliva, unless his policy is endorsed. The remains of Miss Aurora Wuestebert, the young musician who perished last week in the fire at the Kansas City University building while trying to save the lives of her pupils, were reinterred at Oak Hill Cemetery, Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Farrington's Alibi By JESSUP MINER Copyright 1907 by P. C. Eastman

Farrington looked up with such genuine dismay that even he laughed at himself as he caught his reflection in the glass. "But how was I to blame?" he insisted. "The extent of my knowledge of racing is that it's a game where the horse you bet on always comes in last." "That's what I told papa," she explained, "but he said he saw you distinctly and that I could not pull the wool over his eyes in that fashion." "Well, something must be done," he said decidedly. "I'm not going to lose you because I was arrested in a pool room raid." "Could you speak to Mr. Tennis?" suggested Agnes. "He could tell father that you simply went there with him at his request." Farrington shook his head. "You don't know Tennis," he chuckled. "He's the biggest sort of practical joker. He might go around and tell how I got him into trouble. Anyway, if he ever got hold of the story I should never hear the last of it." "But you must do something, Neddie," she urged. "Father insists that I break our engagement. He says that no man who plays the races can marry a daughter of his." "I think I shall have to prove an alibi," Ned grinned. "Is he in now?" "Tonight is the annual dinner of the Survivors' Club," she reminded him. "He will not be home until late." "Well, tell him that I was not in the pool room," he said—"that I said he had made a mistake somehow. I'll fix up an alibi." "It seems wrong to deceive father," she protested. "It would be if he were open to argument," he admitted, "but, you see, he is so set that this is the only way." "Where were you?" she asked. "You ought to tell me where you were." "At the office," he said promptly. "He doesn't like Tennis, so he's not apt to get a chance to ask him." It took much argument and many kisses to convince Agnes that their

"YOU'VE GOT THE WRONG DOPE," HE SAID, only hope lay in denial of everything. Farrington had been in a pool room when it was raided, and as the prisoners were being taken down the street they had passed Mr. Ripley. In that moment Ned Farrington knew that it meant a broken engagement, that perhaps I was mistaken," he said. "I chaps I made a mistake when I said that he was in that pool room crowd. You might ask him up to dinner tomorrow evening if you want to." Agnes ran across the room and threw her arms about his neck. "There, there!" he said. "It's all right, my dear. We are all of us liable to make mistakes. Ned has a telephone, hasn't he?" She started up the hall to where the telephone hung. He followed her more slowly. "Agnes!" he called as she started upstairs. She turned at his voice. "Be sure and get the right one," he said ambiguously. And he wondered why she laughed. "WHY IS A DEMOCRAT GRAVES ANSWERS Why He Wants Teddy to Be Candidate of August Belmont's Party New York, May 21.—John Temple Graves, the Georgia Democrat, who, in a recent speech, advised the Democratic party to nominate President Roosevelt in the next campaign and urge Bryan to lead the movement by placing the president in nomination, today explains his reasons for advising such a course. Graves sees the fight to control predatory wealth as the great issue, and thinks the Democratic Party should sacrifice temporarily its great leader, Bryan, to enable Roosevelt to settle this problem. Both parties combining on one candidate, Graves thinks, would cause an era of good feeling in which both parties, now badly split, could reorganize in such a way that every voter could find a place in some party. The theory of his proposition, Graves says, was based upon the question recently raised: "What is a Democrat?" He answers: "A Democrat is one who believes in the rule of the people for the real and practical interests of the people."

NEAT SUM THROWN INTO MARCHERS' NETS

In the Moyer-Haywood parade yesterday the sum of $289.47 was thrown into the nets carried by the marchers. Most of this amount was in small coins, but some $5 bills were found when the committee counted the proceeds of this unique effort to raise money for the popular fund. The results were quite gratifying to the committee. When you buy goods be sure to let the advertiser know that you are a Socialist and a reader of the Chicago Daily Socialist.—Adv.
