

SOUGHT AID OF GOMPERS IN FIGHTING SOCIALISM?

New York, Nov. 29.—The recent charges of bribery and graft preferred against Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor have now appeared in their true light—that of antagonizing the labor unions and the Socialist party.

In an interview Broughton Brandenburg, magazine writer and tool of the National Manufacturers' association, declares Gompers was offered a guarantee of $5,000 a year to tour the country making anti-Socialist speeches.

Brandenburg's Statement. I started out to write a series of sketches about great Americans of today. I thought that Mr. Gompers was a great man.

Gets Evidence in South. I had to go south on my story which I was getting ready to send to a magazine. I had heard that when Gompers was sick in 1895 at Hot Springs, Ark., he thought that he was dying and made some confessions as to his relations with labor.

Has Eye on Evidence. I was not an agent of the National Manufacturers' Association, nor an employe of their organ. I had no receipt to make any such offers to Gompers, but I knew that if he would give up this documentary evidence, which he alone could give, it would be valuable matter not alone to my story, but also to the National Manufacturers' Association, which is fighting him.

American Industries had long been working against Gompers and the whole clique. Its path and mine had crossed several times and I got some material help from its investigations. Whatever I was offered that would help me in my story I ran down. If it was true, I used it.

Gompers to Fight Socialism. We decided upon a tentative agreement which I was to submit to President Van Cleave of the National Manufacturers' association. I knew that Gompers was a good speaker and that he was anti-Socialist.

NEW DUMA SHEARS CZAR OF HIS TITLE "AUTOCRAT". St. Petersburg, Nov. 29.—That the new Russian duma is not a subservient to the will of the czar as has been reported was proved last night when that body decreed that the title of autocrat, which has been borne by the emperors of Russia for centuries, is no longer tenable within the Russian state and is incompatible with the regime inaugurated by the manifesto issued by Emperor Nicholas on October 30, 1905.

IS WILLING TO SACRIFICE SELF. It is among the poor that the true spirit of heroism and self-sacrifice for the good of mankind is to be found. An orphan, alone in the city of Chicago, and the victim of one of the diseases which long has baffled medical science, is ready and willing to give up his life in the interests of science and to undergo any kind of experiment which experts may desire to inflict upon him in a study of epilepsy.

ANGRY "L" PATRONS MADE TO BOOM REAL ESTATE

Cleverly Devised Scheme in Kicks of Wilson Avenue Patrons; Service Made Bad So as to Get Ravenswood Into Papers

The most up-to-date advertising scheme ever employed to boom real estate is alleged to have been worked in connection with the Ravenswood extension of the Northwestern Elevated railroad. Officials of the "L" road are the people who are credited with devising and carrying into effect this bold advertising campaign.

Deliberate Action Charged. It is charged that the officials deliberately established an excellent express train service to Ravenswood, and just as deliberately crippled the Wilson avenue service for the purpose of making the Wilson avenue people mad enough to protest in the daily papers.

"FREAK SOCIALISTS" USED TO DISCREDIT SOCIALISM

That the capitalist daily papers seize with avidity upon any piece of news concerning the idiosyncrasies of "freak Socialists" and play them up in their columns in order to cast discredit on the political Socialist movement, was never better illustrated than this morning, when three separate stories appeared involving Upton Sinclair.

FATALLY SHOT BY A CHINAMAN

E. J. Heineman, 27 years old, 277 Erie Street, a salesman, during a night of revelry with a woman and another man, is alleged, was shot and probably fatally wounded by Wah Kee, an enraged Chinaman, who is proprietor of a chop suey resort at 293 West Lake Street.

According to the police, Heineman and his companions went to the resort at 4 a. m. and rapped repeatedly at the door which was locked. The sounds awoke Kee, who was sleeping on the upper floor, and he watched the party to leave the place. They started to Jer at the Chinaman, according to the police, and Kee disappeared from the window, returning a moment later with a revolver, with which he opened fire. Heineman fell, a bullet piercing his right side and striking his spine. The other two fled.

The name of the woman is thought to be Mabel Sully, but the name of the other man cannot be learned. After the shooting Kee closed the window and retired, according to the police. An hour later a porter in the saloon of Franklin and Bernstein, 300 West Lake Street, stumbled over the body of Heineman.

Sergeant Brennan and Detective O'Connor aroused Kee and after questioning him for an hour the Chinaman admitted the shooting. MEAT PRICES ARE CUT, ALL GROCERIES CHEAPER

The long-expected drop in meat prices has come to Chicago. The slump in live stock has become so noticeable that the packers and butchers can no longer keep up sufficient nerve to charge the old prices, and today the cut was announced. Prices for all kinds of beef have been reduced, and this following a big reduction in the prices for pork, gives half-finished meat consumers some little cause for thanksgiving.

Chicago packers announced the good news, which was especially welcome to the public because the decrease in prices was sufficiently large to mean something to slender pocketbooks. Beef fell 1 to 2 cents a pound, pork dropped 4 and 5 cents a pound. That practically cut the price for pork in half and brought beef within sight of the poor man's table.

Prices to Go Lower Yet. What was still more pleasing news was the promise that prices are to fall lower yet.

"The reduction in the price of meats did not come immediately after the prices for live stock went down, but followed later, because it takes considerable time before meat produced from the present supply of live stock is put on the market," said one of Armour & Co.'s officials. "Nevertheless, up to date there has been a reduction of 4 to 5 cents a pound on pork and a reduction on beef of about 1 and 2 cents a pound."

There have been some reductions, it is continued, and others will follow. Of course the general condition of the country is bound to effect the price.

Reductions in the price of meats in Chicago will be followed by similar action by the packers in New York, Omaha, Kansas City and St. Louis, according to advices received from those places.

Groceries to Go Down. Wholesale grocers and dealers in other table commodities in Chicago announced that they will also reduce their prices.

ON THE RIALTO. BY PETTON BOSWELL. Pearl's cab before awning. Such was the play and such the acting at the Grand Opera house Monday night when Bertha Kalich opened a fortnight's engagement in Angelo Gutierrez' great work, "Marta of the Lowlands." The fine scenery of the drama was interpreted well-high faultlessly by Mme. Kalich and her company and the swine out front did not grudge. Perhaps they thought they were at a performance of advanced vaudeville. Then, again, perhaps they were only the habitual night fighters of society, who attend merely to be seen and to "confer" the higher drama. May the drama be saved from such patrons.

If one could reconcile himself to the display of unappreciative vulgarity by the audience it would be a pleasure to attend the coming of Mme. Kalich. She is an actress who can safely be hailed as great. She has art and power, both of which serve to make notable her presentation of "Marta of the Lowlands"—something the memory of which will long be cherished by the better class of Chicago theatergoers.

The play is reckoned as the masterpiece of Gutierrez, who is the foremost playwright of old Spain. It deals with life among the Catalans, a simple people who live at the foot of the Pyrenees. There is Sebastian, the "master," who holds the land for leagues and leagues, and who is servilely obeyed by the peasants. It took good luck that first act begins to unfold and the audience learns that Marta, the child of a wandering beggar, has been taken in by the master when a mere girl, that she has been reared as the master's mistress and that now, in order to get her out of the way so that she may contract a rich marriage, he is wedding her to a lonely young shepherd of the mountains who knows nothing of her name. The shepherd appears a noble, primitive, big-hearted giant, who is wont to choke wolves with his bare hands. His name is Mannelich. The villagers taunt him—he knows not why and he becomes the husband of Marta, who despises him because she thinks he is marrying her to get gold.

In the second act Mannelich has found that he has been deceived and is about to break with her in a rage. No one will tell him who is the guilty man and he would kill Marta only his love for her stays his knife. The master comes, hears Marta avow love for Mannelich and becomes enraged. He betrays Mannelich, tries to kill him, but is seized and thrust out by the villagers.

The last act at Marta's house, discloses the desperate passion of the master, who knows nothing of her name. Mannelich comes and seeks to regain his old relation with Marta. She repels him, fights him and screams. Mannelich appears, he having scaled the walls with his great hands he threatens the master as he did the wolves of the mountain, chokes him to death, flings his body to one side, takes Marta in his arms and bears her away into the forest.

A grand theme here. Situations powerful in the extreme. Quiet moments in between surcharged with an indescribable foreboding of the tragedy to come. And the audience giggled.

NEWS FOR UNIONISTS

Ballots for the annual election of officers for the United Mine Workers of America have been sent out from the national headquarters to the local unions throughout the country.

There are but two candidates for the office of president to succeed John Mitchell. They are William B. Wilson, present secretary-treasurer, and Thomas L. Lister, who holds the position of vice president.

Mitchell is a candidate for re-election as delegate to the American Federation of Labor.

Alfred H. May, a Boston printer, has been acquitted of the charge of counterfeiting the label of the Allied Printing Trades Council on some political cards last September. Upon the evidence Judge Sullivan decided that May did not counterfeit the label, and discharged him.

Cleveland, Ohio, policemen have been making a fight for the eight-hour day, and largely through the work of labor unions, the city council recently passed an ordinance directing the chief of police to relieve corner policemen after eight hours of duty. The chief, Judge Sullivan, refused to do so. The labor boys are now trying to get the ordinance enforced.

In the present form of slavery, which is said to exist in the south, the victims are very largely white men—some of American birth and some foreigners—who have been lured to the turpentine and lumber camps and coal mines by offers of good pay. Others are prisoners who have been convicted of some trivial offense and sentenced to work mines. Being unable to pay their ransom, they are sold to the turpentine and lumber camps.

A committee selected by the carpenters' joint council will meet in the Garden City block this afternoon and investigate the charge that certain union officials have been in the employ of the Meador Furniture Company at Cincinnati to get nomination for the National Bank building at Chicago. The committee consists of J. J. Brittain, Charles McCrank, David Jones, R. J. O'Brien and D. J. Fitzgerald.

These charges were published some weeks ago by the newspapers, when, in fact, there were no foundations for them. It is believed they were started by enemies of the carpenters' union to discredit the officers and cause trouble within the ranks.

A member of the council has contributed a piece of land for the erection of a building, and several hundred dollars have been contributed for that purpose, but funds are still needed.

New Orleans, La.—Following the publication of the "patron" articles in this city, a statement has been printed in the daily papers by District Council No. 35 of the Painters' union. A certain member of the Master Painters' association is reported to have stated for breaking his word, and resorting to double-faced methods in dealings with the men.

The whole list of employment contracts are being called for by the union. Their agreement to pay $3 to their employers, an agreement which was signed by each employer individually.

Scranton, Pa.—Central Labor union reports good progress in the Production and Consumers Exchange, a co-operative enterprise of union labor and farmers. The United Mine Workers in this district report heavy gains in its membership.

A San Francisco report says that the New South Wales coal strike is settled.

THE HUSTLERS' COLUMN

The legion of Hustlers is waking up all along the line. The first sign is a 100 percent increase and going hard. We will enter the next campaign with a daily paper that will make the plutes look up and listen. With capitalism tumbling to pieces it is up to the Hustlers to educate the workers in time to step in and take care of the fragments and build them into the structure of the co-operative commonwealth.

There are thousands of subscribers of the Daily Socialist that are the only subscribers at their postoffice. A few months ago a call was sent out to some of these asking them to make a special list of the names of their subscribers. We effort to secure other subscribers. We are the best and truest guards of the movement, we always hustlers, and the result justified our expectations. Since then hundreds more of these outposts of the revolution have been coupled and we believe the time has come to call for another move upon the enemy.

If every reader of this who stands alone upon the subscription list at his office will secure a new list of names, the Daily will take a long jump toward that 10,000, eight pages and financial safety.

There was no surprise when the word came that a South Boston, W. Mass., hustler had captured first prize Monday day. That town has always been a headquarters for hustlers. It was George Robertson that did the trick with $13 worth of subscriptions.

Third prize goes to William Barth, Terry, S. D. He puts in $5 worth of subscriptions. It took good hustlers to get up anything Monday. It was one of the biggest days in the history of the paper. But we will break its record next Monday.

The Chicago hustlers are setting things to humming. Morris Gollin from the Ninth ward Jewish branch brought in a club of five, but Joseph Langenberg of the Twenty-fourth did the same thing on the same day. Who will break the tie and the record?

The sustainers' fund is beginning to show signs of activity. The following contributions have been received since the last acknowledgment in these columns: C. J. Crouse, Chicago, $1.00; Henry Schumacher, Chicago, .40; A. Bell, Chicago, .10; Thomas Thure, Chicago, .10; Bourke, Chicago, .10; G. R. G., Chicago, .50.

CLASSIFIED

PERSONAL. This book by ERNEST UNTERMANN, first announced over a year ago, and unavoidably delayed, is now just ready, and all orders for it will be filled by return mail. It is a popular introduction to the three volumes of Marx's "Capital." It differs from all previous books of this kind in that it does not follow Marx's arrangement, which is somewhat difficult, but gives the facts about capitalism from Marx's point of view in the form of a connected history of the mode of production from the age of the savage down to the age of the trust. This is beyond a doubt Untermann's best book, and that is saying a good deal. Cloth, $1.00 postpaid.
