Pressmen's Head Is Exposed As Burglar LEFSE OF METAL WORKERS. Special Interview at Peeking, VOICES LABOR SOLIDARITY PLEA

AS WE SEE IT
By T. J. O'FLAHERTY

JUDGING by the action taken last week by O. B. Johnson's exploitation order against the Communist, by District Eight of the International Association of Machinists, the Executive Army drummer, the naval aviator, the driver, the out of the kitchen all those who oppose his deal collaboration, the Communist has been baffled because of his deal with the Industrial and Ohio Railroad—most promptly told by the district committee that the valuable asset to the trade union movement, and were entirely devoted equally to be members of the organization.

BERRY FOND GUILTY OF ROBBERY FRAUD ON THE TREASURY

Ordered to Pay Back Money to International

This is the twelfth of a series of articles in the columns of the DAILY WORKER, written by George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union.

Chicago Printing Pressmen's Union No. 3 and Franklin Union No. 4, joined forces. Who's next?

It was not Communist propaganda alone that convinced the machine tool of this fact. It was more than any other factor, the activity and the conduct of our comrades in the capitalist nation. The Communist, of all those who take their party membership seriously, were the only help to the organization. They were the only ones who could not bring his own struggle with his own hands. They were the only ones who were not under their thumb.

THEY were the only ones who have promised themselves to get rid of the Communist. Only recently the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor attacked the DAILY WORKER because of their treacherous attitude toward the workers. They recommended that they be left, look and act like light, but strange to say, our papers are today more popular than ever, and we are fighting with the enemy, they are the DAILY WORKER, they are the champion and spokesman.

WHEN the DAILY WORKER came out in the past few days, it was a surprise to the president of Chicago Printing Pressmen Union No. 3 and unknown by what he had said. It is the union president that it was not a surprise that today, the Communist daily is now a hundred of pressmen in the city of Chicago. It is more than a hundred of pressmen in the city of Chicago. It is more than a hundred of pressmen in the city of Chicago. It is more than a hundred of pressmen in the city of Chicago.

THE Chicago Pressmen charged that the DAILY WORKER was a tool of the Communist Party. The Chicago Printing Pressmen Union No. 3 and Franklin Union No. 4, joined forces. Who's next? Following the main reporters upon anti-imperialist work at Tuesday's afternoon session of the Fourth convention of the Workers (Communist) Party of America, an outline in yesterday's DAILY WORKER, the convention gave the floor to various delegates for debate. Comrade Johnston, Statch, Chalmers, Weinstein, Wagnenkraft, Wicks, Minor and Browder all speaking five minutes. After this, Comrade George Mottion was made by Comrade Bittelmann to the proposals of Comrade Wolfe, that one be referred to the incoming E. C. and the others tabbed as having already been provided for by the resolution of the Party Commission. This done, the Party Commission resolution was carried without a dissenting vote.

WIFE OF EX-RUSSIAN ENVOY LEAVES HANDSOME FORTUNE

WASHINGTON, August 26.—Madame Mary E. Babakoff, wife of the former Kerenky ambassador to the United States, left a fortune valued at a million and a quarter when she died last June in Paris. It will be recalled that George Babakoff continued to represent the Kerenky government as a Washington "leg" after the November revolution in Russia when his government was overthrown by the Soviets.

Two Kinds of Stabilization.

While there has been a spotted and temporary stabilization of capitalism, which constitute a great embarrassment, his wife was an American woman and it is wondered if her fortune contained any of the unaccountable funds.

Report on Soviet Russia.

The date of the party should be held in every way to discover these treasures. The speaker had discussed the role of the English translation of "The Communist Manifesto" and other early revolutionary leaders still held in American libraries. The question of the First International with the early revolutionary movement of America had created great numbers of the most interesting letters, minutes and documents to be held here.

...to this end the American working class to be applied.

Not only had the necessity for recognition and trade relations been recognized, but the political basis of the struggle for recognition was the clear statement of American workers and the American working class stands by the workers and peasants of the other countries.

In so far as the party, we can say that the party has been objectively the backbone of the Communist International.

In the campaign for a labor party, the Communist International has been the driving force.

But the Communist International is a strong force, yet it is still subject to attack from the capitalist class.

The party must make a new use of its strength. It must be able to lead the masses in the labor movement.

Pressmen! Not Only Now, But Always, Rally to the Aid of the Daily Worker

By J. LOUIS ENDGAHL

To-day, the dead hand of Victor F. Lawson continues to grip the press of the United States. The Daily Worker is the only newspaper that is not owned by a capitalist.

In the trustification of industry, control has passed out of the hands of the workers and into the hands of the capitalists.

But it has always been claimed that the capitalist daily newspaper must have its "personal touch."

The Daily News has been internationalized just as much as the traction trust, the gas trust, the phone trust, the electric trust, and other public utility.

Joseph Pulitzer started the New York World and the New York Times. He was a capitalist.

The name of James Gordon Bennett was associated with the New York Herald and Telegram, which he placed in the hands of a syndicate.

There are no capitalist dailies in the Soviet Union today because the workers have organized their own press.

Thousands of extra copies of this issue of the DAILY WORKER have been distributed in New York City.

SYNOPSIS—The official report of the British trade union delegation to the Soviet Union, covering foreign trade, transportation, industry, finance and agriculture in the USSR, and that in agriculture and industry the level of production is increasing and that in agriculture and industry the level of production is increasing and that in agriculture and industry the level of production is increasing.

During one month a worker can draw 75 per cent of his wages, and then the final payment of the other part due is made on the 10th of the following month.

Getters and fillers are expected to work 18 days in each calendar month, and other underground workers 22 days, and surface workers 24 days. If a worker takes one day's work or up to three days' work, in the first instance he is paid the exact amount that he would have earned if he had worked 18 days.

When it becomes an habitual absence, it is treated as a special case. The Committee in the second instance, and probably, also in the third case, as there is no finding allowed, but if he can show a justifiable reason why he had to play, no deduction of wages is made.

All necessary tools and explosives are found free of cost to the worker.

No checkweighers are required on the surface as the men are guaranteed a minimum wage with extra pay if they fill more tons than that which is agreed upon shaft for free if they fill their day's work. If a workman fails to produce the number of tons for the ordinary day's work as agreed, that he has not done his best under the conditions prevailing. In dealing with the workers' committee and officials, and if a case is proved by the officials, they have no right to reduce the wages down to two-thirds of the amount of the ordinary day's wage.

The workers are provided with boots and special suits to work in the underground, and are supplied with the necessary clothing.

For accidents or industrial diseases the workman is paid for the first three months his full minimum wage as referred to in the above paragraph, and then at the end of three months he is dealt with by a special committee under the Minister of Labour, on which the mine workers are fully represented. If it is proved that he is still unable to follow his regular work, he gets as a pension the ordinary minimum wage prevailing in the industry.

When it is decided by the Medical Board that a workman is fit to return to work, he must be found work at that colliery where the accident or industrial disease happened at his usual rate of wages.

When a man is no longer able to follow his regular work, he is paid for the first three months his full minimum wage as referred to in the above paragraph, and then at the end of three months he is dealt with by a special committee under the Minister of Labour, on which the mine workers are fully represented.

Each surface worker is allowed two full weeks' holiday a year with full pay; whereas each underground worker is allowed only one week's holiday.

The first class inspectors are called safety inspectors, and must be qualified by the Minister of Labour, but are elected by consent of the Mine Workers' Association.

The next inspector is a practical miner who is elected by the district union for one year and paid by the Government for that time; the miners are working under proper conditions and that the amenities of housing and special clothes and boots for wet work, etc., are carried out.

A deputy has to be a good qualified miner. He is appointed by the local colliery authority, and must be approved by the Association of Workers, and he makes a report to the mining manager on the quality of his colliery.

There is no general minimum wage with regard to setting timber in the General Mines Regulation Act.

The workmen are paid in the following manner: In exceeding 3 per cent his work he reports to the official in charge and is paid his full day's work for the ordinary day's work, but if he leaves his work when he is short of timber and reports for official in charge, when he is informed, has been a splendid worker for 15 days, and is paid for the ordinary day's work.

No one is allowed to go underground until arriving at the district minimum wage, when he must be paid not less than the district minimum wage.

No person is allowed to work on the surface at the mines unless he is a member of the union.

Output of coal for 1924 is estimated at 14 1/2 million tons. There are employed in coal mines 140,000,000 men. The production of coal is as follows: Anthracite and 40 per cent of bituminous coal.

The policy is to have short agreements, six months, in no case more than twelve months. There are 17 classes of labor for wages purposes, each class being granted a minimum fixed between the administration and the Mine Workers' Association.

There are very few coal-cutting machines in operation. The depth of the mines vary from 200 ft. down to 2,800 ft. The thickness of the seams are yet worked.

The workers are paid according to the amount of their actual wages earned to the association as contributions. The minimum wage is 140,000 sterling per year on 14 days' notice at the same rate of interest. For every cent they receive 7 per cent. Out of the contributions the workers pay for their education, for their recreation, for the Central Committee of the All-Russian Miners' Union.

The mine workers are supplied with coal free to their homes, amounting from seven to eight tons per week. There are no public baths, but there are Russian steam baths in the various housing centers for the use of the miners and their families. But the housing is generally bad.

No direct payment is made, but in every new agreement, extra pay was described above, arrangements are made for the rippers and dippers and tunnelers or drifters are paid so much per ton of coal. The rippers and dippers are paid so much per ton of coal.

The workers at the mines and other industries generally do not have co-operative societies, showing that the Trade Unions are not very active. The workers at the mines and other industries generally do not have co-operative societies.

The pit committees are composed of workmen at the mines, both on the surface and underground, and their powers are to manage the surface and underground work, and to manage the surface and underground work.

The miners are marked out in areas, and a Trust is appointed by the Government and the Central Miners' Union to work these areas. The policy are marked out in areas, and a Trust is appointed by the Government and the Central Miners' Union.

The workers are paid in the following manner: In exceeding 3 per cent his work he reports to the official in charge and is paid his full day's work for the ordinary day's work, but if he leaves his work when he is short of timber and reports for official in charge, when he is informed, has been a splendid worker for 15 days, and is paid for the ordinary day's work.

There is no general minimum wage with regard to setting timber in the General Mines Regulation Act. The workmen are paid in the following manner: In exceeding 3 per cent his work he reports to the official in charge and is paid his full day's work for the ordinary day's work.

It was difficult work but very interesting, and new experience to me with all my long mining experience. The thickness of this seam is about 4 ft. 6 in., including in the top 100 ft. of the seam, and the seam is about 1 1/2 in. thick, in one section no dirt parting and in the other section a dirt parting.

The depth of the shaft that I went down was 600 yards and the shaft pillar 600 yards in length. Number of men underground 200. There are 1000 men underground, and there were 250 coal hewers. The output from October last, to September 20th, 1924, was 250,000 tons. The colliery was producing coal at 10 per cent of the total output.

The workers are paid in the following manner: In exceeding 3 per cent his work he reports to the official in charge and is paid his full day's work for the ordinary day's work, but if he leaves his work when he is short of timber and reports for official in charge, when he is informed, has been a splendid worker for 15 days, and is paid for the ordinary day's work.

Social Recognition

One of the favorite arguments of the American capitalists opposed to recognition of the Soviet Union, is that no country that uses a social system established formal with the workers' republic, has benefited from that relationship.

But Motolova Zamoto, noted Japanese journalist and Japanese correspondent to Siberia during the Japanese occupation of Manchuria, has written in a newspaper he said: "Japan has profited immensely from recognition of Soviet Russia. There was urgent necessity for Russian recognition in Japan seeking fishing rights on the Russian coast worth 150,000,000 yen annually. She obtained pulp, furs and other goods requisite for continuance of Japanese industry. With Russia the gain was chiefly political, but with the U. S. it was economic."

"Reports that Japan rejected the recognition policy because of alleged and subsequent loss of the Manchurian market are unfounded. Japan awaits with interest the report of the investigators dispatched to Russia by Mr. Hoover. We believe they will find it economically desirable for the United States to recognize Manchuria."

The press agents of the capitalists who interests are not vitally affected by non-recognition of Soviet Russia and the yellow socialists and labor leaders who diplo-matize the Soviet Union and convincing statement of the Japanese capitalist.

The Russian market is looked upon with greedy eyes by the manufacturers of the world and the workers of the Soviet Union equally coveted. Only recently France contemplated a gigantic business deal with Moscow. These are the things that make the die-hard anti-Soviet rascals so up and the talkative Communist propaganda in capitalist countries does not depend in the least on whether a particular country recognizes the Soviet Union or not. The latter desire to recognize the Soviet Union because they have any desire to help the workers' republic along its thorny path. Neither does the Soviet Union seek trade and diplomatic relations with capitalists for any other reason than material ones. The Soviet Union would rather deal with workers' republics than with capitalist republics. The latter would rather deal with workers' republics than with the creative committees of the U. S. & R.

Facts are stubborn things. We believe that the United States will be obliged to recognize the Soviet Union. The United States belongs to a Soviet Republic belongs to the American working class. They will perform that duty, whether the United States recognizes Soviet Russia or not.

They day get "amb" for the DAILY WORKER and a member for the Workers Party.

A Socialist Liar

Joseph Sharts, the editor of Miami Valley Socialist, is reckoned to be about as decent as anybody can be and still remain a member in good standing of the socialist party. But it seems that when it comes to treating Communism or dealing with Communists, he acts as an incoherent as well as an idiot out of his mind, exhibiting an agreeable odor.

Writing of a recent election campaign in Toledo, Ohio, the editor of the above named paper stated that the Communists pulled to the race for mayor of the city. This is his comment: "They (the Communists) were never anything but a back door annex to the capitalist machine, which it kept the Socialist Union loyal ballot, they will now throw their strength to one of the republicans."

Wm. Sharts, wrote those words he knew he was lying. There is not one single instance in the history of the Communist movement in this or any other country, where a section of the Communist International, or any section of a national Communist Party, affiliated with the C. I. ever supported a capitalist party on the political field as an employer on the industrial field. Sharts knows this, but it is his obligation to admit the truth and to meet the Communist discreditation to the winds and exposes himself as a common and clumsy liar. Traitors to the working class had short shrift in the Communist Party.

The socialists are mad because the Communists refuse to let them bury the class struggle. The socialists want to be respectable. They want to appear in the eyes of the capitalists as "safe, sane and conservative" people who could cause the ruling class any discomfort, but are willing to wait patiently until capitalism passes out of a new second, which it will keep the Communist International.

The socialists of all countries have been united front with the capitalists. The Fifth Congress of the Communist International declared that the socialists should constitute the right wing of the working class movement, but the right wing of the bourgeoisie. This is as true of the American wing of international socialism as it is of the more important parties in Europe.

Soviet Russia, the only power that has any real influence in China today, declares a student of international affairs. It is his obligation to admit the truth and to meet the Communist discreditation to the winds and exposes himself as a common and clumsy liar. Traitors to the working class had short shrift in the Communist Party.

The French government has turned the old carrier fleet, which was up in a French port, over to the Soviet government. England will not welcome this news.

The Syrian revolt against French rule is not serious any Premier Paltrebe, but the Syrians are quiet convinced about their success so far.

Mrs. J. P. Morgan did and even the stock ticks did not stop, not to mention the wheels of industry.

Another shakedown is promised for the Chicago police department. Chief Collins has ordered a large consignment of fivers.

SEND US LETTERS AS WE SEE IT

only a mass Communist Party can lead the working class in the struggle for the abolishment of capitalism. These are the facts, that block government, the capitalists and the labor factors to put the Communist out of business.

Tells Communists to Aid Flood Victims

(Special to The Daily Worker)
WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 26.—Comrade Lantowski's latest letter to the Communist Party in the United States, written from Paris, is as follows: "The Communist Party in the United States, by sending you a large sum of money, is doing a very good deed. It is the result of the fact that the Communist Party in the United States has many factories, mills, looms and enterprises. The ranks of the unemployed have been swollen by hundreds and thousands of unfortunate beggars."

"The dire conditions of the peasants and workers are day by day becoming worse and worse. Thousands of peasant households have been destroyed by the loss of their lands and their families deprived of all shelter. The Communist Party in the United States, by sending you a large sum of money, is doing a very good deed. It is the result of the fact that the Communist Party in the United States has many factories, mills, looms and enterprises. The ranks of the unemployed have been swollen by hundreds and thousands of unfortunate beggars."

"This tragic picture can not but have a harmful effect on the minds of the workers in the United States. It offers a large prospect for improvement. The Communist Party in the United States, by sending you a large sum of money, is doing a very good deed. It is the result of the fact that the Communist Party in the United States has many factories, mills, looms and enterprises. The ranks of the unemployed have been swollen by hundreds and thousands of unfortunate beggars."
