CHINESE WORKERS SCORED FOR BAN ON HOSTILE PRESS

WASHINGTON, March 25 (FP)—Class fears of the radical labor element in the Chinese revolution are reflected in the State Department's official summary of a report by Consul General Lockhart at Hankow, Mar. 22.

U. S. Consul's Report Shows Class Bias

"An American newspaper at Hankow, the Hankow Herald, and also a British newspaper, the Central China Post," it says, "have been forced to suspend publication since Mar. 19 by the radical labor union at that city. The labor union forced the suspension of these newspapers by compelling Chinese employees to quit work. There was no apparent cause for this action. No previous warning had been received and no difficulty with the employees had been experienced."

BRITISH WORKERS COURT WON'T LET PROTEST AGAINST WM. J. BRENNAN TROOPS IN CHINA TAKE HIS OFFICE

LONDON, March 25.—Workers throughout England are protesting against intervention in China and demanding the withdrawal of British troops and gunboats. A circular letter demanding that foreign powers keep their hands off China has been signed by representatives of all of the large trade unions.

The Manager's Corner AN ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.

During the week of March 21 to 26 the New York comrades arranged a series of benefit performances of Pygmalion. Thirty odd comrades took these tickets for sale. Due to the systematic efforts of these comrades we managed to sell out completely and to net several hundred dollars for The DAILY WORKER.
