Judge Adjourns Hearing on Petition of I. R. T. for Injunction Outlawing Labor

BULLETIN. Traction workers last night accused the officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit of forging their names to affidavits submitted with the company's injunction application.

Police were posted in or around practically all subway and elevated stations yesterday as the injunction application of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company against the American Federation of Labor was being heard, observers found.

Traction workers, replying to questions asked by a DAILY WORKER reporter, said a leaflet, signed by I. R. T. officials, and warning them to stay away from the meetings called by the Amalgamated Association, had been distributed.

SEVERAL BURNS SPIES MEET THE OIL TRIAL JURY

No Assurance That the Worst of Them Appear

BULLETIN. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The U. S. District Attorney's office today stated that within a few days they "would announce results of the jury fixing investigation that will be a greater scandal than the original Teapot Dome scandal."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The trailers and the trail in the Teapot Dome jury tampering investigation came face to face today.

The entire jury that sat in the oil conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair, and former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, watched one by one 13 of the Burns detectives who had kept them under constant surveillance during the thirteen days of the trial pass before them.

As is usual in this case, the government failed to make much provision for getting all of the evidence. Burns himself was trusted for the production of the operatives to be identified, and could, if he thought it necessary, have supplied other detectives than those charged with actually approaching and attempting to influence the jurors.

Two of the jurors, John Costinett and Gardiner Grenfell, had previously told the prosecutor they had been approached thus.

As each Burns agent was taken before the Fall-Sinclair jury, he was asked his name and which juror he had had under surveillance. The oil jury was given a good look at every one of the operatives.

Secrecy. The woman who rented a room to one of the private detectives across the street from the residence of one of the jurors also appeared.

Burkinshaw, the prosecutor, refused to announce whether any identifications had been made, but it is understood that the jurors failed to recognize anybody.

Sinclair, the oil magnate, and two of his lieutenants, H. Mason Day and Sheldon Clark, are charged with having conspired to illegally influence the jury to bring about an acquittal verdict.

Statement by "The Daily Worker" to the Traction Workers of New York

To the Traction Workers on the Subways, Elevated and Surface Lines of New York City:

For years you have been trying to get better wages and working conditions, for years you have been struggling to build a union which would protect your interests. In 1916 you struck. In 1926 you engaged in a strike of several weeks' duration against the company unions of the traction trust.

Last summer you were ready to strike again.

On every occasion the traction trust has fought you. With the aid of the city police who slugged you as you came from your meetings, as in 1926, with the aid of the courts, they have tried to break your spirit and force you to take without protest their "yellow-dog" individual contract system.

Want you to remain unorganized, separate individuals without power, while they are organized from (Continued on Page Five)

DARROW TAKES GRECO-CARRILLO FRAME-UP CASE

Joins N. Y. Attorneys for Anti-Fascisti

Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, noted criminal lawyer, will head the defense counsel in the trial of Calogero Greco and Donato Carrillo, anti-fascist workers charged with murder, the Greco-Carrillo Defense League announced yesterday.

Darrow, who headed the defense counsel in the Dayton (Tenn.) "monkey trial," agreed to defend the two Italian workers from the New York state government's electric chair after a conference at the office of Arthur Garfield Hays, 43 Exchange Place, yesterday afternoon.

Hays, Isaac Schorr and Arthur Levy will be associated with Darrow in the defense, Filippo Greco, brother of Calogero Greco and secretary of the defense league, said.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 11.—American marines, acting in conjunction with a force of native constabulary fought today in the vicinity of Santa Rita, close to the Honduran frontier, killed four Nicaraguan nationalists and wounded ten. Chicago Exporters Hit By "Big Bill's" Noisy Lion Hunting Stunts. CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 11.—Chicago exporters feel the results of the victory over them by Sam Insull's Mr. Thompson. In order to put the power and traction gang in complete authority, "Big Bill" has conducted an anti-English campaign that is hurting trade. J. F. McKeon, counsel for the exporters told them at their weekly dinner, that "Big Bill" was a half-wit.

"Political half-wits," said Mr. McKeon, "have offended America's two best cash customers. The Mayor has offended England and United States Senator Hiram Johnson has offended Japan. Chicago Gullibility. "Regardless of what may be said about Mayor Thompson," the speaker continued, "he has not underestimated the gullibility of this community, and his contempt for the intelligent group of the city seems justified by his 'political successes.' He warned his hearers that the Mayor's war must be taken seriously. "His attack on things pro-British," said Mr. McKeon, "comes at a most inopportune time, when three out of five manufacturers are losing money. The exportable products of Chicago will have something to overcome by carrying this barnacle, and regardless of your walk in life you are financially interested in the ability of this city to participate in the nation's export business."

FASCISTI TO FORMALLY STOP VOTE OF WORKERS NOT IN THEIR UNIONS

"Reform" Parliament So That Only Trusts and Blackshirt Party Will Be Represented

ROME, Italy, Nov. 11.—Faced with the growing dissatisfaction of workers who hate the change from eight hours basic work day to a legal and customary day of nine or ten hours at lower pay instead of higher, the fascist grand council today abolished the pretense at universal suffrage which has been in force in Italy thruout their regime.

The right to vote will be taken away, legally, as it is now taken away illegally, from all workers who do not belong to the fascist unions.

Remoulding the Italian parliament so that only the fascist party and "great producing organizations" will be recognized and all anti-fascist parties abolished, was decided upon.

It was also decided to reduce the number of deputies from 535 to 400. The senate will remain unchanged.

The "great producing organizations," under the new ruling, will be allowed representation on the following basis:

Big Business Rule. "Thirteen economic, industrial and agricultural organizations will suggest to the grand council the proportion of candidates which the council will revise, cancelling those which are not thorough fascists or are not deemed able to represent the general interest."

The right to vote will be granted only to persons enlisted in working syndicates or presenting other proof that they are working. These "working syndicates" are actually like American company unions except that they have national central organization.

This is the second "reformation" of the Italian parliament that has been instituted by the fascist regime and it makes that body more or less an organization for the confirmation of the government's policy.

Although there has been an opportunity for opposition parties to hold seats in the assembly up to the present time, they have been virtually without a voice in the government as a majority, for the dominance of the fascist party was always assured under the terms of the first "reform."

Wide-spread Protest. The grand fascist council's decision to "reform" the Italian parliament and limit the right of franchise, attracted wide attention and a good deal of protest thruout all Italy today.

The proposals of the grand fascist council would make the assembly a body composed entirely of fascists or sympathizers with the fascist cause and would deny the right to vote to all except the members of the so-called "working syndicates."

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS FACED BY HUNGER, INJUNCTION, COAL AND IRON POLICE, HOPE FOR REAL AID

Many Rumors in-Mining Camps as to What the Conference Will Do

Strikers Expect at Least Nationwide Relief Drive and Union Assessment

By AMY SCHECHTER. (Special To The DAILY WORKER.)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11.—Rank and file delegations have been elected by a number of United Mine Workers local unions in western Pennsylvania to the conference of union heads called for Monday by the American Federation of Labor to consider the attack on the coal miners' union by the coal barons and the federal courts.

The conference will be held in the Roosevelt Hotel. MINERS PIN HOPES TO CONFERENCE.

It is hoped by the miners here that the conference will lay plans for effectively combatting the drive of the coal barons to smash the union. Tremendous interest centers around this conference throughout the whole district.

Coal, Iron Police Beat Miner's Wife For Harmless Word

The following letter received by a striking miner of Bentleyville, Pa., gives a picture of one incident, illustrating the continuous brutality of the coal companies' gunmen, in the present lock-out and strike of coal miners. It is as follows:

Scabs Move In. "The following statement I heard from Pauline Paterson, wife of striking coal miner, and mother of four small children, living in a company house at Van Voorhis, Pa., the Valley Camp Coal Co., or Palsey interest.

On October 24 this trouble started as Mrs. Paterson was washing clothes on her porch. While she was washing, the strike breakers' furniture were unloading next to her door, at the time some other woman asked her, who is moving. Then she said, "some kind gypsies moved" (they look like Mexicans). Then some of those strike breakers went to the office and reported. The coal and iron police came and asked her why she called them scabs as they reported her.

Called Scabs to Help. "Then she said, she didn't call the scabs, but she called them gypsies. Then the Coal & Iron Policeman told her that she will pay a fine, so she told him she didn't do harm to anybody, but that answer did not satisfy the Coal & Iron police. After cursing her he called her a Red neck and tried to arrest her without a warrant.

"She refused to go, then he started to beat her with his fist, and still he could not force her to the car.

"Then he called some of the strike-breakers to help him, but still beating her so hard that she began to scream, and her screaming, in the hands of the Coal & Iron Police, affected so much one strikebreaker, that he called up on the Coal & Iron Police, saying why beat this poor woman so much for nothing.

"But the Yellow Dog took her by the hand and twisted so hard that the poor woman began to scream again, then more people came to see the brutality of the Coal Co.

A Company Doctor. "This poor woman was so weak that she had to call a doctor and it happened that the doctor was in sympathy with the company and he refused to give her an affidavit, but the case is still going on.

"This poor woman has black and blue marks on her body, from the brutal treatment, and this is only one case out of hundreds of other cases of which the general public never heard, and this is the so-called democracy that we coal miners will fight until the real industrial democracy will be established."

Nations Scare Citizens By Pointing To Other Countries' War Fleets. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (FP).—Big navy promoters have come to Washington to start their long-heralded drive for a five-year program of construction of 25 to 30 cruisers. They demand that the American navy be made equal in power to the British, and will use figures employed during the Geneva naval conference of last summer to prove that Britain's navy is now far more powerful than the American.

In England, the navy promotion crowd is playing the same trick—urging that Britain must increase her fleet in order to maintain leadership over the United States, whose naval enthusiasts say that the American navy must always be kept ready to carry out the foreign policies of the American government. This competitive bidding-up is suspiciously like that which Rep. Clyde Tavenner exposed, at the outbreak of the world war, as going on between Germany, France and England. The munition makers kept frightening the public and parliament in the rival countries—first one and then the other, through subsidized press channels—until all Europe was desperately buying war materials and a war-hunger.

SUN YAT-SEN

Celebrate the Birthday of Dr. Sun Yat-sen Today

By SEIZO OGINO.
 Thousands of Nationalist and Kuomintang flags are waving today above the narrow streets of the Chinese quarters of all the large cities of the world in honor of the birthday of the dead, yet ever-living leader of the Chinese Revolution, Sun Yat Sen. Dr. Sun, who devoted forty years of his life fighting for the emancipation of the 400,000,000 Chinese from reactionary Manchus, war lords, and foreign imperialists, never permitted his followers to pay him any personal honor. He kept his birthday secret and this is only the second one that has been observed on a large scale. In New York City, as thousands of Chinese residents open their meeting to-night with three ceremonial bows before the picture of Sun Yat Sen, many of them will recall their association with the great leader during his three visits to this city. Dr. C. Y. Lee, artist and sculptor and an old resident of Chinatown was one of Dr. Sun's close associates during the exile's stay in this city.

True to Dr. Sun.
 When interviewed yesterday at the headquarters of the Left Wing Kuomintang, 21 Bayard Street, Mr. Lee spoke with reverence and enthusiasm about Sun Yat Sen. Mr. Lee seemed to have caught something of the spirit of the dead leader who refused to be discouraged during the darkest days of exile and apparent failure as he translated for us the big posters and banners which hung on the walls of the headquarters surrounding the life-sized picture of Dr. Sun. In Chinese characters, each a foot in length were the "We pledge ourselves to carry on the three great policies of Sun Yat Sen." namely: 1. Cooperation with Soviet Russia. 2. Cooperation with the Communists. 3. Support the Workers' and Peasants' Movement. Another poster read: "Support the recent declaration of Mme. Sun Yat Sen."

 Revolution in Himself.
 "Dr. Sun was a revolution in himself," declared Dr. Lee. "Sun Yat Sen couldn't utter three words without saying 'revolution.'"

"Living in South China where Britain and France had fought wars for concessions and special privilege from the ruling Manchus, Sun realized that China could never regain her territory and independence until the reactionary and degenerate Manchus were overthrown," declared Dr. Lee.

Long Revolutionary Career.
 Secret societies were traditional organs for reform in China. According to an old proverb, the officials have the law, and the people have the secret society. After China's defeat by France in 1885, Sun began his agitation and when he saw his country go down before the new Japanese imperialism in 1894, he intensified his activity for the overthrow of Manchus. In 1896 he was in San Francisco forming new branches of the "China Reform Society," and in 1902 he was here in New York City organizing the "Chinese Revolution Alliance." "It was at this time that I met Dr. Sun for the first time," commented Mr. Lee, "I was one of the first members of this secret revolutionary organization and a friend of mine was the only other member. Now, however, there are almost a thousand members of the present organ of the Chinese Revolution, the Kuomintang, or Chinese People's Party."

Yuan's Treachery.
 "When after more than ten unsuccessful attempts to overthrow Manchus, the Revolution at last burst forth on October 10, 1911, Sun Yat Sen was in this country," Mr. Lee stated. "He spoke in New York City at the old Doyer Street Theatre and then went to Europe before returning to China to become its first President. Giving up his office to Yuan Shih Kai two months later with the hope of uniting China, Sun Yat Sen was soon a refugee again in foreign countries. After the death of Yuan, Sun made his headquarters in Canton, and organized the Nationalist Government."

In 1924, a year before his death, Dr. Sun attended the first National Convention of the Kuomintang in China and issued the famous "Manifesto" denouncing foreign imperialism and inviting the Communist to enter the Kuomintang. It was in the fall of 1923, that Sun had asked Borodin to come to Canton as his official advisor and had invited Russian military instructors to teach young Chinese in the military tactics of Revolution. The next year, while in Peking striving again to unify his country, Sun Yat Sen died.

With Workers, Peasants.
 "We are proud of our Sun as Russia is proud of her Lenin," concluded Mr. Lee, "and we are determined to follow his Three Great Policies and his last will until the revolution is successful. It is a shame that some of our people, even many Kuomintang members who claim to understand the principles of Sun Yat Sen, do not follow the true ideas of Sun," declared Mr. Lee. "Some still have hope in the corrupted war lords and professional politicians. But we members of the Left Wing pledge ourselves to march with the workers and peasants of China until we overthrow these war lords and imperialists and establish the People's Government for the benefit of the great masses of workers and peasants which is the true idea of Sun Yat Sen."

Mob Filipinos in "Divide and Rule" Tactic of Bosses

YAKIMA, Washington, Nov. 11.—Business men interested in the hop fields of this rich valley are concentrating a campaign of race prejudice against about three hundred Filipino hop-pickers, and calling on American workers to prove that they are better hop-pickers, and can do more work for less money.
 The fires of hatred raised by these tactics have gotten so far out of hand that three different mobs have started to "clean out" the Filipinos employed on the Yakima Indian Reservation farms, and have caused many of them to leave. Scores without railroad fare are being driven along the country roads, chased on from point to point by the town officers.
 A few days ago a mob raided a Filipino settlement near Toppendish, broke up houses and beat up a number of the inhabitants.
 Another mob started later, but was persuaded to disband near Wapato. Still a third mob is reported to be forming. Wild stories of Filipinos "insulting" women are used to fan the hatred.

Rank and File Trade Union Delegation to Study Soviet Labor

(By Federated Press.)
 PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 11 (FP).—Three and twenty American rank and file trade unionists, on their way to observe Soviet Russia's celebration of the 10th anniversary of her revolution, have been discovering America enroute.

Sixteen sessions held aboard the S.S. Lancastria gave opportunity for the discussion of leading American trade union problems, from the B. & O. plan to organization of the unorganized. As a result, the American workers are entering the Soviet Union with a better conception of their own labor movement and the program needed to extend it to include all workers.

Study Unionism.
 The excursion, which is to spend 3 weeks studying various phases of trade unionism in Russia, has divided into 5 groups: mining, manufacturing, building trades, transportation and government. After the first week of the 10th anniversary celebration, each group will visit different Russian cities investigating conditions in their special industries.
 The national committee of the excursion was reorganized with William Watkins, president of switchmen's local 206 of St. Paul as chairman. Other members are Robert Kling, New Haven, Conn., machinists' union; Edward A. Stock, San Jose, Calif., electrical workers union; Ernest Lundeen, Minneapolis, Minn., Farmer-Labor Assn.—former congressman; and Harvey O'Connor, research director.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of State Kellogg is worried by the decision of the League of Nations to send a representative to the sixth Pan-American Congress, at Havana in January.
 The Cuban government has informed Geneva that it knows of no reason why the League observer should not be there. The State Department, does not want the League to give any attention to Pan-American affairs, lest it encourage Latin Americans to resist domination from Washington.

Defense Asks for Carol's Return at Trial of Follower

BUCHAREST, Nov. 11. — An effort to secure the return of Prince Carol to Roumania to act as a witness in the case of former Secretary of State Manolescu, charged with conspiracy to dethrone King Michael in favor of Prince Carol, has been made by the defense in the trial of Manolescu.
 Manolescu's counsel declares that Prince Carol's testimony is necessary and they have also asked the adjournment of the trial until other witnesses can arrive in Bucharest.

Call Martial Law Illegal

The defense has also taken exceptions to the constitution of the court, but its objections have been overruled.
 There are five members of the military court conducting the case, with Col. Vladiscu, presiding.
 The chief contention of the defense so far is that the court is not competent to judge the case, because the nation "is not legally under martial law."

 The machine is being built with a view to the protection of Italian "interests" in the Mediterranean, Major Gardner said.

SOVIET WORKERS STILL REMEMBER SACCO, VANZETTI

American Rank and File Delegates Greeted

By CARL HAESSLER
 (Special Cable to Federated Press.)
 MOSCOW (FP), Nov. 11.—The blare of trumpets and boom of cannon with all other features of the epoch-making celebration of the 10th anniversary of the establishment of the workers' and peasants' republic in Russia have not drowned the voices of the American labor martyrs, Sacco and Vanzetti.
 "Why were Sacco and Vanzetti executed? Why have not American workers the organized power to prevent it?" were among the first questions fired at the American rank and file delegation visiting Soviet Russia as it crossed the border between Finland and Russia.
 Greet Delegation.
 The delegation was met at the border by a large reception committee of Leningrad trade unionists. When they reached Leningrad, the birthplace of the revolution, an even greater ovation awaited them. The Russian workers showed a great interest in everything that is happening in America. They wanted to know about the new Ford, when it is coming out, and whether Ford's plants are unionized.
 November Celebrations.
 The delegation proceeded immediately from Leningrad to Moscow in order to be present at the big celebration there which was featured by a parade of 30,000 trained troops followed by 250,000 trade unionists. Hour after hour this gigantic parade passed by Lenin's tomb just outside the historic walls of the Kremlin.
 On top of the tomb reviewing the parade stood Kalinin, president of the Soviet republic, who before the revolution belonged to the poorest class of the peasantry.
 The movie "October," a titanic portrayal of the story of the revolution acted by the leaders and workers who took part at the very scenes where it was staged in earnest just 10 years ago, made the whole thing very vital to guests from other lands.

March of Jobless Miners to London Gathering Strength

On their arrival in Bath the miners were greeted by a workers' delegation which had provided food and quarters for them. Bath workers accompanied the marching miners for a few miles.
